Director's Jottings

Pantomime is a strange and peculiarly English art form; ask any foreigner who sees one for the first time!

There are those who think Panto is easy to do and that it is somehow not 'real' theatre. Of course this is totally wrong. Good pantomime demands that those involved bring to their roles all the skills required in 'normal' drama productions, plus a range of other abilities which might well frighten to death many of it's would-be detractors.

There have also been many attempts to up-date and 'sanitise' the Pantomime, but these have nearly always fallen on fallow ground, as have the efforts of those who wish to inject an air of 'political correctness' into Pantomime proceedings.

We try to present a traditional approach to Pantomime, including as many of the expected and anticipated features as possible. It is a recipe which seems to succeed with both cast and audience alike.

So, today we present for you our production of Cinderella, that most famous of all Pantomimes. We invite you to sit back, suspend belief and join in as we re-visit that best known of tales.

Welcome to the Guild Players 5th pantomime. Despite having been in existence for over 50 years, it wasn't until 1993 that we performed our first panto. It was a great success with both the cast and audience alike, so we have continued to produce one every two years.

In the past we have visited Widow Twankey's Laundry, climbed magical beanstalks, seen very strange cats and even been shipwrecked on a desert island, but now it is time to meet....
